— WHY NOW

A refusal to surrender our bodies

In the days of old, when a person lost their way, the elders would say: “Go back to the forest. Walk with the medicines. Listen again.”

We have all been witness — to the poisoning of our food and water, to the slow violence of a world that forgot how sacred the body is, to the diseases awakened inside us. And still, you are here. Still breathing. Still searching for a path back to life.

WILD! Healing gathers international healers, farmers, herbalists, and physicians not to dominate illness, but to outnumber it with wisdom. It is a return to ancient remembering — a pilgrimage, a medicine walk across time and continents, guided by those who still remember how to call the body back to life.

Three movements, one journey

An opening ritual calls the spirit of the plants, the ancestors, and the land. From there, the walk unfolds — two days of virtual immersion, culminating in a third day on the land.

SEPT 17 · ONLINE

DAY ONE

The Remembering

A global circle of healers, a virtual medicine walk through fields and forests, herbalism master classes, and journeys of cellular restoration.

SEPT 18 · ONLINE

DAY TWO

The Resurrection

From knowledge to embodiment — a farm immersion in the land that heals us back, and wisdom panels from traditions that survived erasure.

SEPT 19 · ON THE LAND

DAY THREE

The Gathering

Onto the land at dusk — lanterns between the trees, a feast of medicines, drums and dancers, and the honoring of those who heal the healers.

Dinner & performance in the woods

As dusk settles over the forest, lanterns glow between the trees. Tables are set beneath the canopy. Wildflowers and branches decorate the space. The air fills with the sound of drums. This is not a gala — this is a ceremony of gratitude.
