OUR MISSION

Healing the whole person — and the world that shaped them

Restore Forward is an integrative healing community rooted in more than a decade of reconciliation and reparative work. We care for the whole person — your body's biology, your emotional history, your nervous system, your relationships, and your relationship to the Earth — and we carry that work into the institutions and communities people call home.

“You cannot heal at the same speed you were wounded.”

LAND & FOOD AS MEDICINE

The forest, the garden, and the table.

Before there were clinics, there was the land. We steward 453 acres of woodland in Ava, New York so that land and food can do what they always have – return the body to itself.
